Oxygen Therapy

We provide a wide range of stationary oxygen concentrators, portable oxygen concentrators, oxygen cylinders, regulators, oxygen conserving devices, suction systems and nebulizers so you have a complete solution available to you. The human body can tolerate low levels of oxygen for short periods of time, but chronic low levels of oxygen may cause damage to vital organs. In such cases, doctors may prescribe oxygen therapy to return blood oxygen levels to normal. Air Liquide Healthcare specialises in home oxygen solutions and respiratory services designed with the end users in mind. We help promote a healthy and active lifestyle by working with home oxygen users, their families, and carers.
